SONGO POND

Mrs. Ralph Kimball, Cor.- Mrs. and Mrs. Leonard Kimball left Songo on their way to their winter home in Florida.

David Solway was absent from his work two days last week due to illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kimball, Mrs. Herbert Adams and Mrs. David Solway were in Mechanic Falls Wednesday to attend the funeral services for Mrs. Marjorie Martin.

All registered hospitals which was nationally circulated by the American Hospital Association and indicated that 98 per cent of those responding picked Blue Cross for this important role," Neilson said.

"Maine Blue Cross has had valuable experience working jointly with the U. S. Government in the past. Blue Cross has administered since December 7, 1965, the Program of Hospital Benefits for Dependents of Uniformed Services by contract with the Department of Defense," he continued.

"It has also been involved with the administration of the Federal Employees Program since 1963 and as a result of this valuable experience this added assignment will be handled much easier," according to Neilson.

In anticipation of this announcement, we have prepared our staff to accept the added responsibility without jeopardizing our present programs of Blue Cross-Blue Shield with some 270,000 members," Neilson said.

"We feel we can do this with very few administrative problems since we are presently serving approximately 37,000 subscribers in the 65 and over-age group. It will be necessary however to add some clerical personnel to our working staff," he pointed out.

Neilson said that "It is our intention to work out any problems that may exist between now and the effective date, July 1, 1966, so that the transition to Medicare to those eligible can be handled smoothly and effectively."

MAINE GASOLINE SALES UP 7.1% ACCORDING TO PETROLEUM SPOKESMAN

Maine gasoline sales jumped by 7.1 per cent in November, according to the latest figures released by the Maine Petroleum Association.

MPA Chairman James E. Elmer, in a report prepared for an Association executive committee meeting at the Lafayette Hotel on Monday, said that this year's 11 month figures reflected an increase of 24 percent over 1965.

"We noted it is for the first time since 1961 that gasoline prices have risen in the State," Elmer said. "The increase was 1.5 cents a gallon in the State of Maine."

"If these prices continue to rise with those of last year, we will have the record of the highest gasoline prices in the State since 1961," he added.

Maine Girls Back from National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago

Three young women have returned home from a week's stay in Chicago where they attended the 44th National 4-H Club Congress. They won the all-expense trip because they were judged best in their particular 4-H Club programs.

Named as delegates by the Cooperative Extension Service, the three participated in educational and recreational activities while in Chicago. In addition to attending numerous meetings and seminars, they spent time touring museums, sightseeing, hearing a concert, and attending dinners.

The girls and their projects are Diana Jacobs, 18, of Caribou, home economics; Eleanor Kent, 19, of Clinton, leadership; and Judith Berry, 18, of Farmington, clothing.

Miss Jacobs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jacobs, is a freshman at Bardett College. Determination is the keyword in Miss Jacobs' 4-H career.

"In 1964, her club disbanded," said Miss Jacobs, extension agent, "but Diana continued her home economics project as a miscellaneous member and has now organized a club of her own."

A sophomore at the University of Maine, Miss Kent is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kent.

"The attitude and drive of this 4-H girl has set a splendid example for all young 4-Hers," said Nancy Fulton, assistant leader.

"Still more important is the fact that she is a good student and ready to assist others in any way possible to improve their living conditions."

Blue Cross is now preparing information for a direct mail campaign for its eligible subscribers.

Neilson again urged that carrier citizens 65 and over who will be affected by Medicare keep what ever health coverage they have until the program goes into effect July 1, 1966.

He distributed folders explaining Medicare and coverage persons should read and understand the plan and without necessary participation.

Elmer said that increased sales of gasoline are an indication of more travel and more business for other segments of the economy.

The special session of the Legislature opening January 17 will consider bills designed to bring Maine laws into conformity with the federal Highway Beautification Act of 1955. If such controls are not adopted, states face penalties which could jeopardize up to 20 per cent of their federal highway allotment.

Under the new proposals, junkyards and automobile graveyards would be banned from view within 1,000 feet on Interstate and primary highway systems.

Federal funds would be available to the State Highway Commission to finance 75 percent of the cost of relocating junkyard which could not be screened from view on Interstate and primary highways. On other Maine roads

DANIEL G. BROWN

Isabel Grover Brown died Sunday Jan. 9, 1966, in a St. Petersburg, Fla., nursing home where he had been a patient for some time.

He was born at Newry, March 10, 1903, son of John S. and Fautina Stowe Brown. After going to the South Paris area as a child with his parents, he attended the Paris schools and the University of Maine.

He had taught schools in the Philippines Islands and Puerto Rico. He was also employed by the American Tobacco Co. in China, and by the Shell Oil Co. in Venezuela. Prior to his retirement in 1951, he was employed by the Maine State Liquor Commission.

He is survived by two nieces, both of Massachusetts.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in a St. Petersburg funeral home with burial in Riverside Cemetery, South Paris, in the spring.

W. S. C. S.

Twelve members and one guest were present at the WSCS meeting at Mrs. Robert Gordon's, Tyler Street, last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Verna Dyke presented the program; the program was "The New Year and Human Rights." Mrs. Alfred Brown and Mrs. Leona Flint will be co-hostesses for the next meeting, Jan. 20, at Mrs. Brown's. Mrs. Phyllis Doherty will have the program. She expects to talk about some school problems of interest to all.

There were no objections to the mining operation, since there will be no discharge into any public waterway.

The DED commissioner said the conditions in the Brooksville area are ideal for Colohan's proposal.

This would be one of the cleanest operations yet proposed for the state, he said, "since there would be no need to discharge mining wastes outside of the area. After the operation is completed, the dam prohibiting the flow of water into the pond will be removed and the pond will be returned to its original state."

Colohan cited the proposed operation as a prime example of multiple resource use. It would allow the removal of the valuable ore, establish a waterfowl management area, and there would be no pollution of public waters or fishing grounds.

The commissioner said the proposed mining operation in Brooksville is another result of years of work conducted by his department's geological survey division. Several other major mineral deposits in Maine are being mined or for which mining operations have been proposed—were originally revealed through the division's geological mapping program.

Colohan said the Water Impoundment Commission has voted to approve the plan.

COMMITTEE OF "106"

DISCUSSES LAYOUT OF PROPOSED BETHEL SCHOOL.

The Educational Advisory Committee of 106 members expressed few suggestions for changes in the physical plan of the proposed six-year high school when they met Wednesday evening, January 5.

Interest was shown in the location of the boiler plant—provided the final recommendation includes a type of heating that requires one.

Leiter Bickford, chairman of the building committee, explained that the location—under or area designated for girls' lockers—fulfills regulations since it has no access except from the outside, and there would be a reinforced concrete floor over the boiler room. No form of heating is to be decided upon until the building committee has had a chance to compare all types.

It is planned to have the S.A.D. 44 cafeteria, which is electrically heated, Saturday, Jan. 15.

The committee has had meetings with local water company representatives with regard to supply costs for a sprinkler system.

There were inquiries about the location of the district superintendent's office on a corner of the gymnasium—shop wing—farthest removed from other administrative offices. Mr. Bickford pointed out that the building will have its own administrator, while the superintendent has responsibility for, and should be accessible to, all schools, and persons, concerned with education, in the district.

The offices are included at this building for economy over the expected life of the building—the district presently rents office space—and because the basement area adjacent to the offices and under the shop area, is planned to be a central supply storage for the district. Its management would be under the superintendent's staff. Directors feel it should provide greater economy in purchase of supplies, as well as being more efficient to inventory.

The building committee chairman pointed out the reduction in corridor space and travel time between areas as compared to earlier sketches.

Looking down on the floor plan, the building appears to have three wings from either side of this central corridor, in addition to functional rooms on either side of its intervals between wings.

To the left, entering via the auditorium—gymnasium foyer, is the gymnasium area with bleachers seating capacity of 1,000. The shop, accessible by a corridor beyond the gym, is behind the gym from the road. To the right of the entrance, and sharing ticket facilities, is the 750 seat auditorium.

The middle wings are, on the left, the junior high class rooms, and on the right, the cafeteria—library wing with a front entrance for community use of the latter wing.

The southerly wings include, to the left, a two story high school section with laboratories on the first floor. The main entrance, and administration and special services offices are a one-story unit on the right.

According to these plans, the corridor level will be lowered at intervals by means of ramps to conform to the contour of the site.

After a review of the 1965 budget, district chairman, Dexter M. Stowell, confirmed details on the financial picture on the new building, as reported at district directors' meeting on Jan. 3.
